

An Open Remark to the Legal Community

By Dr. Lotus King Weiss

Since 2002, after my lecture at Harvard University as a frontier life science researcher was translated into a Chinese article and became published by an International Chinese Newspaper (<http://www.dajiyuan.com/gb/2/12/10/c9630.htm>), I immediately became a target of persecution by the Chinese Communist Government. Within a short three years, the Chinese Communist Government was able to carry out a cascade of crimes in order to accomplish the order by the former leader of the Chinese Communist Party, Jiang Zemin, who, with the goal to eliminate Falun Dafa (www.falundafa.org) from China, ordered, “ruin their reputation, make them financially bankrupt, and eliminate them physically”. In this process, a group of people have fallen into the victims of the hate propaganda spread by the Chinese Communist Party towards Falun Dafa. Among them are my beloved family members, as well as many other American Citizens in the mainstream American Society, including the former Governor of Washington State, the Director of the Benaroya Research Center, many lawyers, the American Family Foundation, the Seattle Guardianship Service, the Massachusetts General Hospital and more. In face of the persecution towards me as an innocent and upright scientist, these people could have chosen to stand up to help to stop the crime. However, in face of personal interests, many chose to silently cooperate with the persecutor. Such a situation is continuing to propagate, and could ultimately endanger the entire society of America and the whole world. I view this as a phenomenon of social cancer. I believe that the America Legal Community shall take the great responsibility of exercising the power of the Rule of Law to effectively STOP this form of crime here in America. For this reason, here I present my story.

A. My Most Important Scientific Achievements

America spends one fourth of national income on the development of molecular medicine, a gigantic project which has been led by a large team of life scientists who are almost like the nervous system of the current health field. Between 1996 and 1999, my laboratory unveiled a shocking molecular signaling mechanism of the family of “Molecular GODS” who orchestrate all key events inside of the cell thereby regulating the birth-aging-sickness-death of the human body. The protein degradation system, called the proteasome, which was only known to be a “Garbage Dump”, was found to be intimately participating in various aspects of the critical regulatory roles of the “Molecular GODS”, which are called the members of the Transforming Growth Factor beta Super-family. At the end of 1999, my intense involvement of this research direction led me into an unexpected occurrence which also shocked me out from the stubborn believe of the so-called “Atheism”. Not knowing how to interpret such an experience in scientific terms at that time, I was forced to look into “alternatives” such as those tabooed by “Scientists” of the modern science field to be “not scientific”, since they deal with phenomena which are beyond the vision of the human naked eyes and are considered to be unreal according to the definition of the modern science. About three months after I experience the occurrence, I received a phone call from a friend who soon sent me the main teachings of Falun Dafa. It was in the Spring 2000. If I did not experience the occurrence at the end of 1999, I would most likely not going to accept the teachings of Falun Dafa, since all of my trainings in the modern life science field made me a true proud atheist. However, in Spring 2000, after my physical body went through a whole set of distinct process that I could document in thorough details with scientific terms, I was ready to face a total new way of looking at the world that I am living in, both the visible and the invisible. My rational mind, with full alertness, carefully examined the results of my practicing this ancient Qigong practice. To validate the physical changes I personally experienced through the practice, I decided to team up with another scientist, Dr. Lili Feng, to systematically study the physical changes associated with this ancient Qigong practice, at the cellular and molecular level, to gain deeper understanding of the impact of this practice on the physical human body. Such efforts soon revealed the most drastic molecular level changes associated with any known and studied mind-body practices, and such changes occur at a system level that clearly indicate the total reduction of protein metabolism and cellular stress, two key factors associated with aging and system level diseases, such as cardiovascular diseases, autoimmune diseases and cancer. The vast reduction of the “Garbage Dump” inside of the cells of the Falun Dafa practitioners and the drastic increase of the “Garbage Dump” of cancer cells also revealed to me a key mechanism of carcinogenesis: stress leads to hyper-metabolism, which then over-loads the “Garbage Dump”, which would fail to participate in the signaling events of the “Molecular GODS”, thereby causing a system-level break down at the molecular level control. If human being is capable of reducing stress response and protein metabolism in a system fashion through the practice of Falun Dafa, then our scientific discovery has validated that here is a non-medicine-based solution for all stress-associated health issues, which include all major life-threatening human diseases, and a cost-free solution for preventing aging of the human body. If this is true, then the impact of practicing Falun Dafa on human health, if just consider the economical impact aspect to American Society, would be saving American people an astronomical number of fund on health cost and animal-based human disease research. Of course, such a discovery in fact directly challenges the current approach of modern life science and the medical practices. Current life science research assumes that human body is not fundamentally different from the animal body, therefore the study of human diseases can be modeled on animals and a cure can be researched through the studies of animals. If human body can be so drastically changed into a state of reduced stress and reduced metabolic rate, and such a practice is dependent on the human uniqueness, then our scientific research discovery directly points out the fundamental flaw of the assumption, which would totally prevent a true understanding of the true potential of human body. In this regard, our study has called upon the renaissance of true human life science, a field that directly addresses the intimate link between human mind, body and spirit.

B. The Motivation of My Research into Cancer Phenomena

My research journey started when I was admitted into the Department of Anatomy and Cell Biology, University of Florida, as a young graduate student at the age of 21, in 1988. My life prior to my arrival in America was spent in the Communist China, which was proven to be hostile to people like me whose passion is for Truth. The entire ideology of Communism is full of deception, which then becomes the fundamental characteristic of the people who are brainwashed by such an ideology. Interestingly, deception is the fundamental characteristic of cancer cells, as well, if I look at the phenomena of cancer from the perspective of a system level. When a normal cell is turned into a cancer cell, the cell no longer is genuine to its fellow cells, since it starts to be driven by an acquired character of deception in order to out-smart the normal safe-guarding mechanism that maintain cellular homeostasis. The reason that cancer cells can kill the entire human body is because of astounding skills of deception at the molecular and cellular level. The first human death that I witnessed in this life was caused by the malignant lung cancer cells on the human body of my grandfather's brother. At that time, I was six years old. The second human death that I witnessed was the death of the physical body of my most beloved grandmother, who was my childhood teacher of life. For the first time, I heard the word Cancer, which, in my young mind and heart, recognized to be the demon that forced my most beloved grandmother to leave this human world. My love for my grandmother became my driving force to find a solution to eradicate such a malignant thing from the human world. I think it was this wish of mine that builds the path of my scientific journey.

C. Summary of My Work at Harvard Medical School and University of Washington

My laboratory was first established in 1995, at Massachusetts General Hospital, where I first started as a postdoctoral fellow in 1993, right after I obtained my Ph.D. degree from University of Florida, Department of Anatomy and Cell Biology. In 1993, my innovative research idea led to a ground-breaking discovery of the Type I receptor of the Transforming Growth Factor-beta (TGF-beta), and the discovery also set up the methodology for the latter discovery of all different Type I receptors of the entire TGF-beta super-family. In 1994, I led my research team to successfully identify the first key regulator of the Type I receptor, the FKBP12 protein, which appears to be a major inhibitor of the action of the Type I receptor, a discovery published in both the SCIENCE and CELL Journal in 1994 and 1996, respectively. These findings cracked the black box of the signal transduction mechanisms of the TGF-beta super-family, and the methodology that I developed was broadly adopted by almost all key laboratories internationally, in the research field of the TGF-beta signal transduction field. I became a "Rising Star" at Harvard Medical School/Massachusetts General Hospital, and was also rapidly promoted to faculty position (Assistant Professor of Genetics, Harvard Medical School) in 1995, when I became a proud Mother of my son, Noah Wang Genatossio. I also became the first recipient of the Claflin Distinguished Scholarship at Massachusetts General Hospital/Harvard Medical School, a very prestigious award given to young female distinguished scientist who is also a young mother. Between 1995 and 1999, I led my own research team to delve into the core of the signaling mechanisms of the TGF-beta super-family, and started to unveil a shocking link between the signaling pathways of the TGF-beta super-family and the “Black Hole” inside of the Cell, a giant protein organelle called the proteasome, where proteins are targeted for destruction. Since the TGF-beta super-family members are known molecular “GODS” that control all key biological processes involved in the entire process of the formation of human body as well as in all necessary maintenance of the homeostasis of the formed physical body through regulating all different types of cells, such a discovery indicates that all key life events of the cells are intimately linked to the protein metabolism state of the cell. Since protein metabolism state is well-known to be linked to STRESS, a term that summarizes all external challenges towards our physical system, such a discovery unveils the molecular basis of the Chinese ancient wisdom: all human diseases originate from human heart. To put it more clearly, human desires are the cause of the stress responses to the various types of losses in human life; the stress responses lead to increased protein metabolism in the proteasome organelle, which normally serves as a key regulator of the delicate balance of the TGF-beta signal transduction pathways and other growth-factor pathways. When the proteasome is too busy breaking down other proteins during a stress response, it is naturally unable to fulfill its delicate regulatory functions. When such a function is disturbed, the entire system of the TGF-beta super-family is no longer working properly, thereby leading to the breakdown of all key regulatory mechanisms of the cell. How can one not get sick when the TGF-beta super-family stops working? The signaling defects of the TGF-beta super-family have been linked to all known cancer types and underline all system level diseases known to be linked to STRESS. In summary, such a discovery brought the entire field of the most frontier life science to face a critical fact: the intimate link between mind-body, which has been almost totally ignored currently in the mainstream life science research laboratories. The process of making such a discovery was full of spiritual trials as well for me. In 1999, at the peak of this discovery, I felt total exhaustion physically, emotionally and spiritually. My physical body started to experience various types of “strange” symptoms which could not be cured by medication. At that time, I was a highly disciplined long-distance runner and yoga practitioner, in order to assure that my physical strength could sustain the extremely high level stress at work place due to the highly competitive research field. Every night I spent hours doing Yoga while my mind could not stop thinking about the research subjects, which even frequently infiltrated into my dreams. In more instance, a meditative state of the mind led me into a scientific insight, which immediately was stirring up my emotions in such a drastic fashion, that I realized that my heart was not pure enough to sustain the knowledge of such a deeper awareness of the secret of life phenomena. It was my first clear experience that validates the principal that a true great scientist shall have a pure heart, free from human attachments to name, profit and sentimentalities. The discovery also stirred up a major “conflict” between me and my postdoctoral mentor, who no longer was ready to “walk” with me. I was asked to leave Harvard. This process may be similar to what happened to Ji Gong, a Chinese monk who was kicked out from the Ling Ying Monastery. I moved my laboratory and my little family to the West Coast and settled down into the University of Washington, the Immunology Department, as an Assistant Professor and set up my laboratory in a brand new research building at downtown

Seattle, at the Benaroya Research Institute, which aims to find a cure for system diseases such as diabetes and cancer, through the focused research in the immunology and cancer research field. I was recruited there by Dr. Gerald Nepom, who was also a Harvard “Outcast” and treated me with the most generous support. I was the highest-paid junior faculty member in the research center. Under his support, I was able to rapidly set up my new lab and recruit a wonderful team of researchers, who worked with me closely in the next five years to produce a whole set of data to fully establish the findings of the link between TGF-beta super-family signaling and the proteasome system.

D. The Project of Researching into the Molecular Level Changes Associated with the Practice of Falun Dafa and the Persecution by the Chinese Communist Government Through Peng Keyu, Gary Locke and My Own Family Members to Silence the Project

I met Dr. Lili Feng in July 2001, when I was attending my first Falun Dafa Experience Sharing Conference in Washington DC. Since both she and I are researching into the molecular mechanisms associated with Cancer, and both of us are fascinated by the amazing health benefits associated with the practice of Falun Dafa, we immediately decided to start a collaboration project. Later that year, she started to send me original data she obtained in examining the gene expression difference between immune cells of Falun Dafa practitioners and of age/gender-matched non-practitioners. The data immediately convinced me the great importance of the continuation of the project. In the Spring of 2002, I had the opportunity to speak at the “Future Science Conference” held in Harvard University, where, for the first time, I expressed my understanding as a frontier life science field scientist towards the importance of the examination of role of human spirit in the health and disease of human body, and also for the first time, mentioned the new discovery made by Dr. Lili Feng’s group, and my interpretation of such a finding. The speech was extremely well-received. I also wrote an English article to summarize all of my points in the speech. The Chinese Newspaper, Dajiyuan, sent a reporter to interview me and published the Chinese translation version of my English article. My true name and work address was also provided and published (see attached Appendix 1). Almost immediately after the publication of this article, I was informed that I was black-listed by the Chinese Communist Government, since a high official in China is the father of the Falun Dafa practitioner who introduced me Falun Dafa. He saw my name on the black-list. I did not know what does this mean, and simply laughed at it, thinking, “What can you do to me? I am in America and I am protected.”

Encouraged by the preliminary data sent from Dr. Lili Feng, I discussed with Dr. Gerald Nepom, the Director of our research center, the Benaroya Research Institute, my interest in initiating more in-depth studies associated with the impact of Falun Dafa practice onto the human immune system. Dr. Gerald Nepom is one of the most hands-off and lay back style leader I have met. He treated me with total respect and satisfied my every single request when I was relocating my laboratory from Boston to Seattle. I communicated with him frequently on my various research interests. When I started to collaborate with Dr. Lili Feng, I was given opportunities to speak about the results in front of all faculty members of the research center to seek for advice and critiques. Dr. Nepom encouraged me to collaborate with some clinicians in the research center to offer the information about Falun Dafa practice to patients in the Diabetes Clinic of the Virginia Mason Medical Center, which is affiliated with the Benaroya Research Center. Learning the great health benefits associated with the practice of Falun Dafa, Dr. Nepom also accepted from me the book of Zhuan Falun, which is the key teaching of Falun Dafa. Dr. Nepom also invited me to start offer free instruction of Falun Dafa exercises to the research center faculty members. In a summary, I was given all types of encouragement and support from everyone in the Benaroya Research Institute, especially from Dr. Gerald Nepom, regarding the research direction of studies of the impact of Falun Dafa practice on human immune system. In 2002, I started to search for grant opportunities to support such a project, and eventually sent out my first grant proposal to the National Institute of Health, to seek for the funding. A letter was sent to me from the funding agency encouraging me to work with clinicians to initiate human studies of the health benefits associated with the practice of Falun Dafa. I was ready to move forward with this research direction. All these happened between the summer of 2001 and the fall of 2002. At that time, my laboratory just received 1 million dollar fund from the American Cancer Society, and I had three postdoctoral fellows, two graduate students and two technicians. My laboratory was at the peak of making research discoveries. In October 2002, when the former Head of the Chinese Communist Party, Jiang Zemin, was invited to visit the ranch house of former president Bush at Houston, Texas, I received an invitation from Mr. Erping Zhang, who organized a National Club Conference for the US Government think tank members and Washington DC media group. I gave a speech on the subject of China AIDS Crisis due to unsanitary methods of blood collection caused by the corruptions of the Chinese Communist Government Officials. In that speech, I expressed my understandings, for the first time in front of the public, that China has turned into a malignant social cancer, by the Chinese Communist Party, and that Truth-Compassion-Tolerance taught by Falun Dafa, is manifested at the molecular level in the human immune system, and the Falun Dafa practitioners are providing the cure of such a malignant cancer. A think tank member came to me immediately after my speech and told me that I shall expand this understanding in a format of a book, since he believes that it is a powerful insight.

However, my normal research career was about to make a big change. Upon returning to my Seattle home after the trip, I was surprised to find my husband, Mr. Alan Genatossio, welcoming me with a divorce document, indicating that I shall decide within two days, whether I shall continue to practice Falun Dafa. If I continue, then I would have chosen Falun Dafa over him, and he would like to divorce me. He informed me that he had already met with an attorney while I was away, and was informed by the attorney that he had the right to take everything away from me, since “your wife is practicing cult.” In the following four months, he was pressuring me and threatening me to divorce me and take away my son Noah. All of my family members, friends, colleagues and neighbors, were informed with such a news. By the end of December, I found myself suddenly lost the ability to sleep. Facing great responsibilities at workplace and home every day, my inability to sleep immediately was making me collapse both physically and mentally. In the Spring of 2003, a legal separation document was presented to me by the lawyer of Mr. Alan Genatossio, and I signed it, after I was being formed by Alan that it would be the only way if I would consider the opportunity to the recovery of the marriage. Between February 2003 and May 2003, I went through an almost life-threatening period of emotional and mental torture inflicted by the sudden loss of my rights to be a Mother for my son and the sudden disruption of a marriage which had deep spiritual meaning to me. In a more simple term, I felt that my heart was torn out of my chest, and I was dying in emotional pain. The worst thing was, I did not know who was the MURDERER. Only much later, I learned what happened to many families of Falun Dafa practitioners, whose spouses became the direct target of organized hate propaganda spread through the Chinese Consulate in San Francisco, and that Peng Keyu, the Chinese Consul General, worked through the “Cultic Study Association” of the American Family Foundation (AFF), to put together a conference in Seattle in 2001 to label Falun Dafa as “cult”, and my husband was directly recruited by the group. The true MURDERER is Peng Keyu, who is controlled by the Chinese Communist Government to kill beautiful families of Falun Dafa practitioners. My son Noah has been since kept away from me, since the end of 2002.

Thanks to the compassionate support of many local Falun Dafa practitioners in Seattle, and most importantly, the profound teachings of Falun Dafa, I miraculously walked away from death and totally regained my ability to sleep, by the summer of 2003. I received the award of American Cancer Society Scholar from the American Cancer Society in 2003 and started to speak at International Conferences about the collaborative work between me and Dr. Lili Feng. I also completed the manuscript for the publication of the initial research discoveries carried out by Dr. Lili Feng’s group. However, I felt that Dr. Lili Feng was no longer very enthusiastic about our collaboration. I did not know that when I was going through my difficult time, Dr. Lili Feng was also going through such a torturous experience, which she never recovered from it. She passed away in 2006, and her death was depicted by the Chinese Communist Party hate propaganda media to be caused by “blind faith towards Falun Dafa”. The true cause of her death is currently still unknown, although she was labeled to have died from cancer, but I know that it is a lie, and I believe one day, through investigation, the MURDERER will be revealed.

In 2003, Dr. Gerald Nepom was visited by a representative sent from the office of Gary Locke, who was then the Governor of Washington State. The representative met with Dr. Nepom behind the closed door for two hours. After the visit, Dr. Nepom totally changed his attitude towards my project on the study of the impact of Falun Dafa practice towards human immune system. He no longer came to my research presentations. He even informed me not to mention Falun Dafa in the research center. When I continued, he wrote me an official letter, stating that if I did it again, I would be facing severe consequence. By the end of 2003, I was subjected to institutional review for my promotion, which, if I received it, I would be a permanent researcher in the research center. At that time, I was at the peak of my research career. My laboratory was highly productive, both in research and in training of postdoctoral fellows and graduate students. We also had sufficient funding. The review committee was very enthusiastic about all of the research programs in my laboratory, and all of them expressed interest in my proposed future research of the studies associated with the practice of Falun Dafa. However, Dr. Nepom made the final decision to not promote me, and asked me to relocate elsewhere to continue my research, even suggested me to build my own. The official reason given to me regarding why I did not receive my promotion was, "Your research direction no longer match with the mission of the research center". When Dr. Nepom informed the news that I shall relocate, at the end of 2003, he suggested that I shall immediately shut down the lab and he would offer me one year of salary to allow me to find a new position. I could see how eager he was to shut down my lab. I know he was being driven by fear. At that time, the Benaroya Research Institute was receiving Washington State Biotechnology fund.

Who could possibly make him so afraid about my continued presence at the Benaroya Research Institute?

Why his attitude completely changed after the visit of the representative from Gary Locke's Office?

Looking back, I believe that Dr. Nepom was directly pressured by Gary Locke, who was then frequently receiving direct phone calls from the Chinese Communist Government Beijing Office, according to the statement made by a secretary in his office. Upon my research, I believe that Peng Keyu and Gary Locke are closely associated and worked together for the Chinese Communist Government to spread hate propaganda towards Chinese Oversea Community Groups and Student Associations, directly contribute to all current ongoing hate crimes and discrimination cases towards Falun Dafa practitioners in Washington State.

Despite the request of Dr. Nepom for me to shut down the lab immediately, I refused and continued to operate my lab through the funding I obtained from the American Cancer Society. I also completed two important review articles which summarize all key discoveries of my laboratory in the past ten years. I traveled to Washington DC to meet with Falun Dafa practitioners who supported and encouraged me to walk the path of a true scientist. In May 2004, while studying the teachings of Falun Dafa, I had a vision of how I can follow my passion for Truth, by paving a path of the holistic study of mind-body-spirit. The name of the Whole Elephant Institute was born for the Institute that I devote myself to build. I was invited to give a speech to the general public, as a frontier life scientist, on a forum organized by Washington DC local Falun Dafa practitioners, and the news on the idea of establishing the Whole Elephant Institute was reported on Dajiyuan. In that speech, I made a clearer presentation of my comparison of the malignant cancer phenomena at the cellular and molecular level, to reveal to the audience the striking similarity of such a cancer phenomena with what is ongoing in Communist China. In the Fall of 2004, I received an urgent request of a scientist from Qinghua University for helping with his team's research project. Since he could not provide funding for my travel, I decided to use my own laboratory funding to cover the trip for an International Academy Member Conference which was about to be held in Changsha City, Hunan Province. I also was determined to reach out to the scientists in China to communicate with them the research discovery on the impact of Falun Dafa practice on human immune system. Although I was selected as one of the speakers in the Conference, I was informed the night before the scheduled speech, that the speakers were “over-booked” and asked me to come off from the speaker list, by the meeting hostess. I saw in her eyes her fear when she was talking to me. It was apparently that she just read my resume and found out that I had publications which contain the words “Falun Dafa”. The following day, although I was not given the opportunity to speak, I raised my hand to comment on a statement made by a scientist who gave a speech on the subject of aging research. He said, “In Summary, in the past several years, there has not any significant progress made in the area of aging research.” The hostess was very nervous when she saw me raising my right hand, and started to hesitate on whether allowing me to ask a question. At that time, all audiences in the room turned around to look at me. The hostess had to say, “Please speak.” I said, “According to what I have learned, the US scientist Dr. Lili Feng’s group recently made an interesting observation on the immune cells of the Falun Dafa practitioners...” The hostess immediately interrupted my words and said, “Excuse me, I am afraid that such a top is too sensitive politically and therefore we shall not talk about this.” I replied, “However, this is scientific research data which we have been able to talk about in all other international conferences.” At that moment, I saw many trusting and enthusiastic young eyes of the young students from the local college, and I was encouraged by them and continued to give a brief summary of the discovery of a total reduction of protein metabolism in Falun Dafa practitioners’ immune cells, suggesting that practicing Falun Dafa is a solution for human aging problem. That night, my hotel had several brave young visitors who came to see me and told me how happy they were to hear my true words and how disgusted they felt about the lies spread by the Chinese Communist Party. They warmly invited me to come back to see them and to teach them. The next day, I was accompanied by the scientist from Qinghua University to visit my home town, Wuxi City. As soon as we went onto the airplane, I was monitored by a plain clothes police, who, as soon as I took out the book Zhuan Falun, snatched the book from my hands. At the Shanghai Airport, me and the scientist were directly forced into police cars and taken into the airport police station. The police officers, at the very beginning, behaved very vicious, using abusive and intimidating words towards me and searched my luggage and confiscated all of my Falun Dafa books that I carried into China. However, when I explained to them that I am a scientist and I have the research data about how Falun Dafa practice impact onto the immune system, they looked at me with trust, and one of the most vicious one started to flip the research article from beginning to the end, although he could not understand English. Eventually, we were released late that day. When I was in my home town, the local Chinese Communist Government sent two representatives to “meet” with me for four hours, when I used the opportunity to clarify the truth of Falun Dafa to them. Apparently the scientist from Qinghua University was subject to threat and he burst into tears when he begged me to leave China as soon as possible. However, when I left China, he became very brave-hearted. He was moved by my kindness during my stay at Qinghua University. My trip brought them the truth about Falun Dafa and an example of what a true scientist should be in face of deception and persecution. The experience from this China trip convinced me that I shall continue my science journey through the establishment of the Whole Elephant Institute, and let the scientific data on the impact of Falun Dafa practice to Human Immune System to be known by the general public, since the data is powerful to disperse the hate propaganda spread by the Chinese Communist Party about Falun Dafa.

When I returned to Seattle, I noticed that my Mother, who was staying with me, already returned to China on her own. This is very peculiar, since my Mother and Father were always together and no occasion had ever broken them apart. The excuse of her returning to China was that she had to seek for medical help in China. In her call to me, she told me that she was visited by government people. She promised to me that she was doing well in China. I sensed danger in the air, but did not know why. My father was behaving very strange in my Seattle home. In the summer of 2003, while the home computer that both of them use in the basement of my home had a virus and I was there to help them to clean up files on the desk top, when I accidentally uncovered a letter which was already placed into the trash. The letter was written by my father to the local Chinese Government Official, stating that he regretfully report to the government that he failed to “transform” his own daughter. The word “Transform” refers to making a Falun Dafa practitioner stop to be a Falun Dafa practitioner. So I knew that both of them were in fact sent by the Chinese Communist Government to “Transform” me, in my own home, on the land of America. Since then, I became alert. I knew that there was something going on behind my mother’s trip back to China.

On the last day of 2004, I calmly organized a small luggage which contained all of my Falun Dafa books and some very basic clothing, and told my Father that I shall be in an emergency trip to New York. He was shocked by my words and did not know how to stop me. I quickly called a cab and rushed to the airport, and bought a one-way ticket to New York City. On the first day of 2005, while hearing the last count of year 2004, I arrived at the Time Square. In the following several months, many things occurred. My elder brother, Jianxin Bao, was immediately called to arrive in Seattle, by my father, to hire attorneys to obtain “Guardianship” over me, since my father informed Jianxin Bao that I was “giving the money away all to Falun Gong”. In May 2005, Jianxin Bao obtained “Guardianship” over me and all of my estate, using a fake medical diagnosis made up by his friend, Amelia Gallitano-Mendall, at the Washington University, St. Louis. At that time, Amelia Gallitano-Mendall was an Instructor in Psychiatry and was using the fly (Drosophila) as her experimental model in an attempt to understand Human Psychology. I met Amelia Gallitano-Mendall only once, at the “wedding banquet” which was announced to me in a very short notice. Considering the fact that my brother was having a headache on not able to force me back to Seattle to subject me to medical examination in order to label me as “Mentally ill and incapacitated”, the sudden “wedding banquet” itself was likely a stage set up for his obtaining “Guardianship”. I recall the entire “wedding banquet” happened in a great rush and Jianxin Bao took special efforts to place me next to Amelia Gallitano-Mendall during the banquet, stating, “This is my close friend and she has always been fascinated by your work and please tell her about it.” Amelia had her children sitting next to her while my mother was placed between her and me. We chatted about science, about my interest in setting up my non-profit organizations and I also discussed with her my understandings of mental illness, as a Falun Dafa practitioner. During that period of time, I had the habit of recording all of my conversations with others during public education. I in fact placed a recorder on the table and made the recording of the entire conversation. However, the recorder was lost in 2006. Later I had a chance to read the legal document which allowed Jianxin Bao to obtain “Guardianship” over me, and I found Amelia’s “medical diagnosis”, in which she did not mention the “wedding banquet”, but pretended that she was my “Doctor”. The “medical diagnosis” was filled with slanderous statement, ascribing all of my losses happened in Seattle, including the marriage breakdown and the termination of my research position, to “suffering from mental illness” of “manic depression”. She further slandered me by depicting me as an immoral character in male-female relationship, and directly slandered my current husband, Mr. Brain Weiss. In her statement, she also recklessly made lies about my not using eye-glasses to cause car accident, which, apparently she heard from the lies from Jianxin Bao. The facts are far from such a statement. It is shameful for the Seattle court to accept an apparent slanderous statement, and accepted such a statement as a legal medical diagnosis, without any attempt to verify this.

After the obtaining of the “Guardianship”, Jianxin Bao confiscated all of my personal belongs, sold my house, and eventually dispersed all the valuable items in the house, as a “gift” to the local Salvation Army.

In the Spring of 2005, when I found out that all of my financial resources were taken away from me, I realized that I was suddenly homeless. My own parents started to spread lies about me among Falun Dafa practitioners in Seattle, in an attempt to totally isolate me from the support of Falun Dafa practitioners. All possible attempts were made to try to lure me back to Seattle in order to force me back to China. Jianxin Bao also made the attempt to ship all of my research equipments to China, claiming to Dr. Nepom that I obtained a research position in China. It is apparent to me that the entire show case associated with the “Guardianship” was orchestrated by the Chinese Communist Government, through deceiving my own parents who then worked the plan out through Jianxin Bao, who, by now, have received quite a lot of “reward” from the Chinese Government.

I, for the second time, miraculously walked away from the evil trap set up by the Chinese Communist Party, which was ready to totally silence my voice of truth as a scientist. If I were to taken back to China, the fate would be apparent: being put into a mental hospital to be subjected to psychiatric torture.

I did not hear from Dr. Lili Feng since the end of 2003. The next time when I heard her news, was the news that she was dying. I am sad that she somehow fell into a deadly trap set up for her, by the Chinese Communist Party.

However, the voice of truth will no longer be silenced. My story will be heard by all people, to reveal a truth that can lead to the ultimate cure of the malignant cancer of the Human Society.

E. The Whole Elephant Institute in Flushing and Flushing Hate Crimes

In the Spring of 2005, when I was homeless, I was immediately housed by Ms. Ling Lee, who is the aunt of former President of Taiwan, Mr. Chen Shuibian. Soon, I met my current husband, Mr. Brian Scott Weiss, who immediately claimed me as his wife. This effectively blocked my parents and Jianxin Bao to do anything further onto me. In July 2005, I became pregnant. In the same month, I officially completed the registration of the Whole Elephant Institute and obtained the EIN number. Even during my pregnancy, when Brian suddenly lost his job and we did not even have money for food, Jianxin Bao refused to send me any of his personal money to help me. I refused to accept any money sent to me through "Guardianship". I eventually took a trip to Seattle with Brian in an attempt to retrieve my personal belongs, but Jianxin Bao refused to allow the storage in Seattle to give me access to my own belongs. After the trip, I worked as an Adjunct Professor at York College, where I taught college level Biology until May 2006. On March 22, 2006, I gave birth to my daughter, Ms. Lotus Blossom Weiss, at the family house, while listening to the lectures of Falun Dafa. The entire process of pregnancy and giving birth at home, at the age of 39, under the most unimaginable stressful environment, was a strong validation of how powerful is the Falun Dafa practice. In October 2006, I took Brian and Lotus to Seattle Court to inform the Court the truth behind the "Guardianship" case and requested the court to terminate this case. However, the court requested me to obtain a psychiatric evaluation and an attorney. Brian and I made serious attempt to meet both requirements, but all failed due to the lack of financial resource. In the Spring of 2007, observing the increasing frustration of my new family members towards my unwillingness to accept money from the "Guardianship" account, I decided that I shall accept the money to do something good for the general public. Immediately after I accepted the humiliating money, I relocated with my daughter to Flushing to start the Whole Elephant Institute Community Service Center, located in Flushing Mall. All of the money was spent for community service. Between May and September, 2007, I encountered harassment, discrimination in Flushing community, and eventually suffered from legal false allegation against me, and was forced to relocate by the end of 2007. In October 2007, I again traveled with my daughter to Seattle and presented to the Court a Motion to vacate the "Guardianship" written by myself and also reported to the local police regarding the unlawful sale of my family house. The court responded by giving me a court-appointed attorney for investigation into the case and a Guardian Ad Litem, Suzanne Howe. The attorney, Luis Edwards, was an old lady who attempted to interview my friends here in Flushing, as well as my friends in Seattle. She also obtained an oral statement from Jianxin Bao, who admitted to her how he obtained the fake medical diagnosis. However, Jianxin Bao's attorney, Michael Longyear, prevented Jianxin Bao from signing the written document. In Luis' attempt to interview Amelia Gallitano-Mendall, Amelia claimed that she would not talk to her if she does not obtain my written consent. When Ms. Luis asked me to cooperate, I refused and told her that this is a trap, since Amelia never was my doctor and my signing the consent would be falling into the trap of admitting legally that she was my “doctor”. Luis informed the court that due to my inability to cooperate with her investigation, she decided to quit from being my attorney. Due to this, my motion to vacate the “Guardianship” passed the due deadline. Jianxin Bao fearing my objections decided to request the court to take his name off from “Guardianship” but recommended the court to use a third party as the “Guardian”. The Seattle Guardianship Service took over the “Guardianship” over my estate in 2008, and started to burn down what was left in the account. The key person in charge is Tom O'Brien, who ultimately did everything possible to satisfy his own interest, disregarding the most dangerous position me and my daughter were in, in 2009, when we became homeless again, due to an unlawful eviction of the second community education office in Flushing, started in the Spring of 2008, almost immediately after I relocated into the space. In May 2008, the Flushing Hate Crime Incidences occurred after the Chinese Communist Party spread hate among Chinese people in Flushing defaming Falun Dafa practitioners to be “celebrating for the Sichuan Earthquake”. Me and My daughter were surrounded by a large crowd in front of the Flushing Library to be subjected to death threat, public humiliation, intimidation and harassment, simply because that day I was wearing a blue chest button with the words “Falun Dafa is Good”. I personally translated and documented over 40 cases of hate crimes towards Falun Dafa practitioners (see www.thewholeelephant.info; “Flushing Hate Crimes”). Worrying for the safety of my daughter, my husband Brian eventually went to the family court to demand a right for him to take over the responsibility in taking care of my daughter. On August 19, 2009, my three year old daughter, Ms. Lotus Blossom Weiss, was taken away from me by Brian to live in Oceanside, Long Island. If it were not because of the solid foundation of our love and trust towards each other, what happened in 2008 and 2009 due to the Flushing Hate Crime Incidences would break my new family again.

The Legal Actions by the Whole Elephant Institute to Cure the Malignant Social Cancer

The Flushing Hate Crime Incidences were directly orchestrated by Peng Keyu, who now has become the Chinese Consul General in New York City. It is amazing that the same person, Peng Keyu, who first was responsible for breaking my marriage in Seattle, now is trying to use community hate crimes to break my new marriage, here in New York. The left over poisons from the Flushing Hate crimes are manifesting into all types of distrust, discrimination, or hidden hate crimes here in Flushing, making the environment of Flushing hostile to Falun Dafa practitioners, who have been experiencing tremendous sufferings due to disharmony created by hate propaganda targeted towards the practitioners, in family life, at work place and within the local community.

I was also shocked when I heard that Gary Locke became the Secretary of Commerce of this country. I then understand why America is now having cheap Chinese goods everywhere and why the America economy is facing crisis. Gary Locke is helping the Chinese Communist Party to grow this Malignant Social Cancer, by feeding the “Blood” into the Cancer. The “Blood” for the Cancer, at the human society level, is called “Foreign Investment” into China. Without such investment, the economy of the Communist China would not be able to sustain its malignancy.

I was also shocked to read that Peng Keyu was invited to light the lights of Empire State Building during the New Year of 2010. If a poisonous snake is welcomed into a central position in a Garden where there are innocent children walking bare-footed everywhere, what would you expect to happen next?

Since last year, I also became aware of another shocking phenomenon: many good-hearted fellow scientists that I know and trust are now being targeted by the Chinese Communist Government and are being lured back to China to work for the Chinese Communist Government. Upon accepting those material profits given to them, they no longer have the courage to stand up for me and are starting to avoid contacting me.

When I recently read the name of Gary Locke on the newspaper again, regarding his role in Census as well as his upcoming role when he goes to China, I knew that the damage is being continued and extended and it has to STOP!

For this reason, I am here officially calling upon the help of all righteous attorneys who are willing to work with the Whole Elephant Institute, to bring those people to Justice: those who are carrying out unlawful activities in supporting the extended persecution of Falun Dafa practitioners by the Chinese Communist Government, here on the land of America! Such efforts aim to the ultimate elimination of this malignant social cancer created by the evil specter of Communism
